

This is a pdf document, methinks.

Here is a silly image because ‘a picture is worth a thousand words’:

This is the piece Live Flesh by Mel Odom.

Mel Odom is an illustrator who has made several book covers and illustrations; most of his work was made during the 70s and 80s, though he does still make art today. He is one of my all-time favourite artists, all of his work is so cool and I love the way he shades with pencil and the way he uses shapes in his portraits.

This is the second page of the pdf document.

I don't have anything to say so I'll keep it short.
